Our Strategy

Through the adoption of Montessori education, we foster a positive understanding of the interconnectedness and balance of nature, and the role that humans can play, which instils children with the confidence to become agents of social and environmental change.

“To the young child we give guides to the world and the possibility to explore it through his own free activity; to the older child we must give not the world, but the cosmos and a clear vision of how the cosmic energies act in the creation and maintenance of our globe”.
